

The African American Population of Eastern Texas

Percentage of Population in 2000 who are African Americans*

African Americans represent a significant portion of the East Texas population.

According to 2000 Census figures in twenty-four Texas counties, African Americans constitute more than one-fifth of a county's population.

*calculated by dividing the county population by number of people identifying their race as black in the 2000 census.